THE WARRIOR

1973

w.p. wagner
high school

edmonton, alberta

"What's a year book for?" We asked intrepid Wagner students.

Henry Funk: "It's great for swatting flies."

Butch Maloney: "I like looking up chicks in it."

Mable Candycane: "I like looking up guys in it."

Abercrombie Fuff, who recently completed a 5000 word essay on 1001 ways to use the Wagner year-book: "I dig with it, man."

Yeah, well, thanks Abie. We think a yearbook is for other things as well:

It's for picking up years later and saying to yourself, "That's what I looked like?"

It's for memories of all the silly goofy things you did that year.

It's for remembrances of the friends you made at school.

Most of all, a yearbook is for a good look at your school—one of the best in the province.

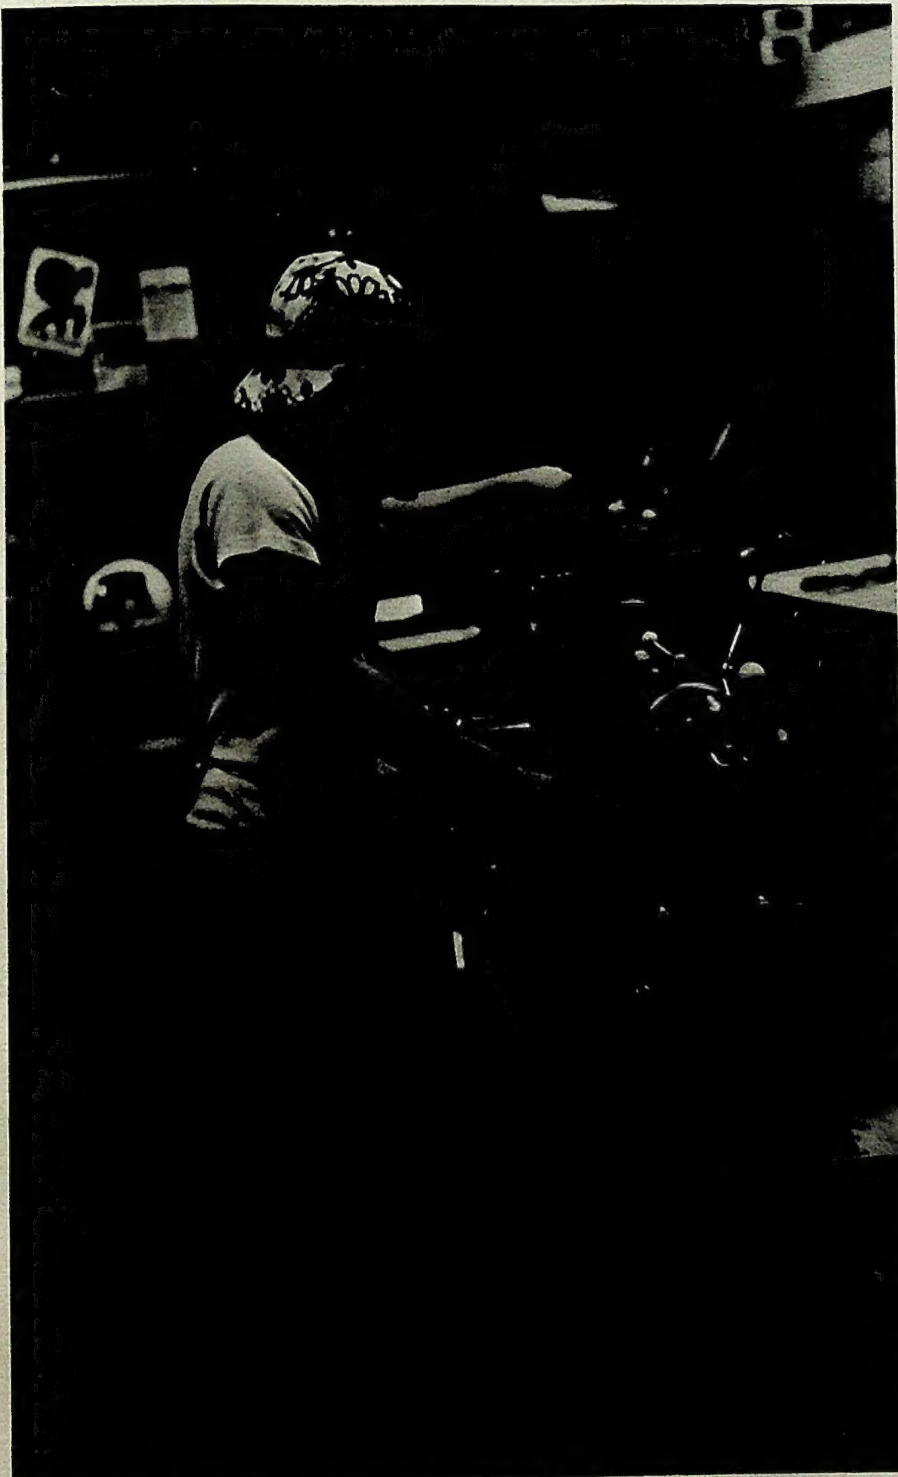

And with those loving words, dear freaky reader....

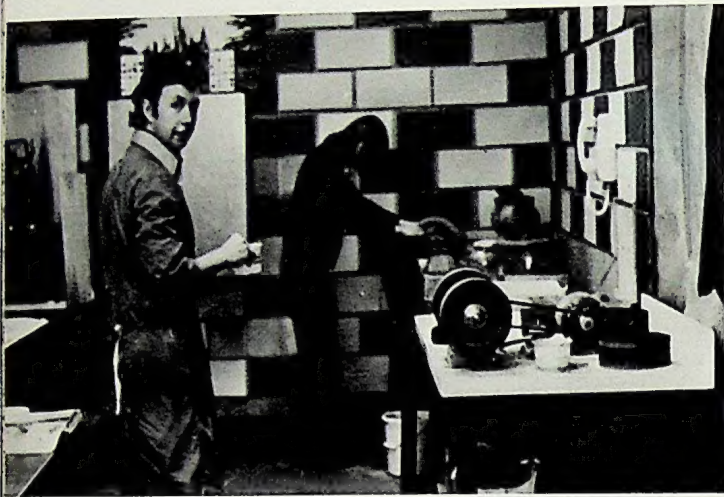

*welcome

The bottom half of this page and the top half of the next page has been appropriated by the yearbook staff (???) who felt that after four months of slaving away at layouts, etc. that they were entitled some space for self-expression and creative work.

ed:

Well, you got the space, guys. What'd you want to say?

Well . . . uh golly
gee . . . um hey . . . ah .
let's see . . yeah it's like this . . .

HORTICULTURE

land
of the green thumbers

Wagner's horticulture students produce an amazing variety of plants and flowers during the school year. The horticulture guys and gals also place highly each year in the high school horticultural competition.

MACHINE SHOP

The students in Machine Shop acquire skills and safe working habits in the use of lathes and other heavy equipment.

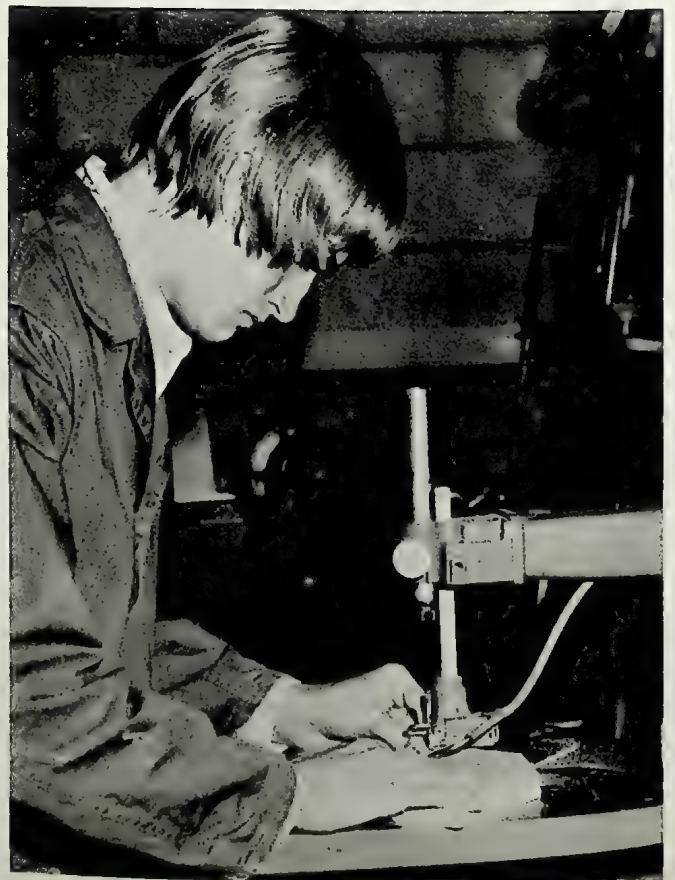

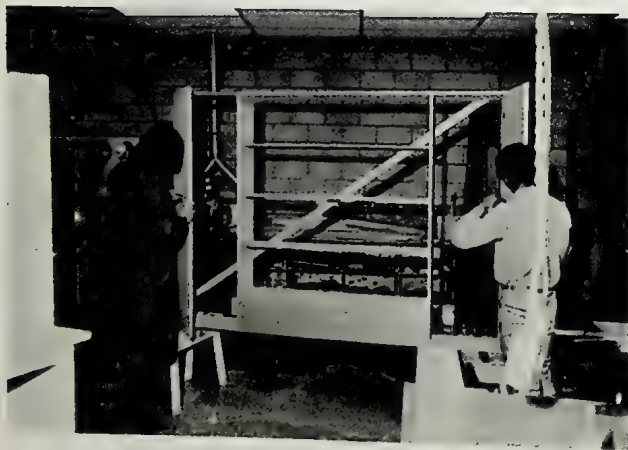

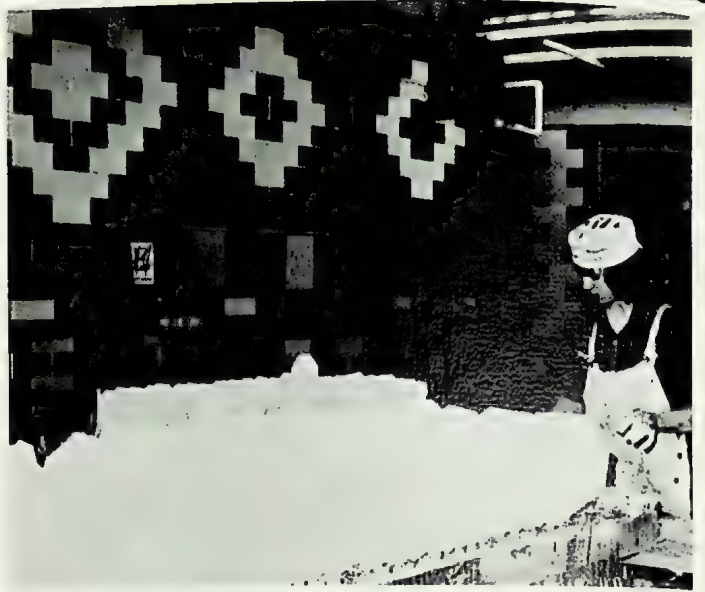

INDUSTRIAL METALS

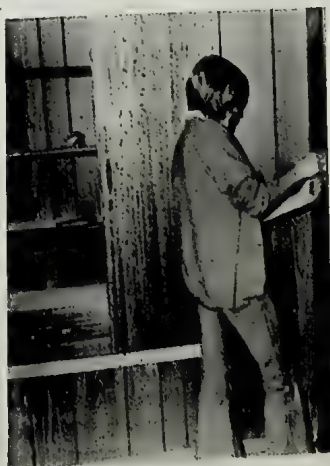

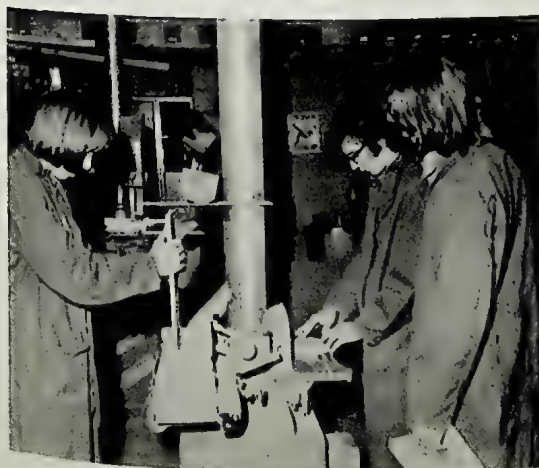

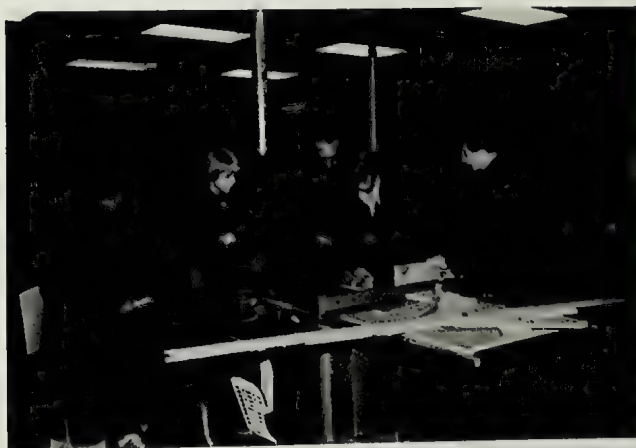

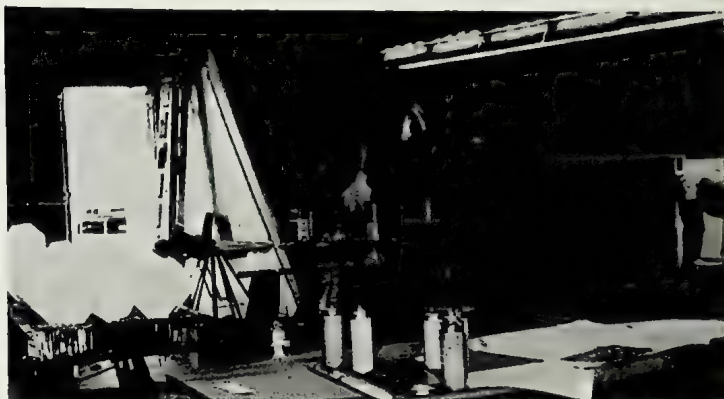

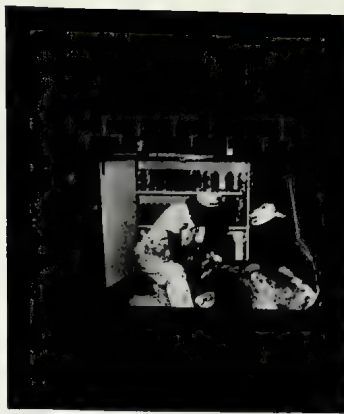

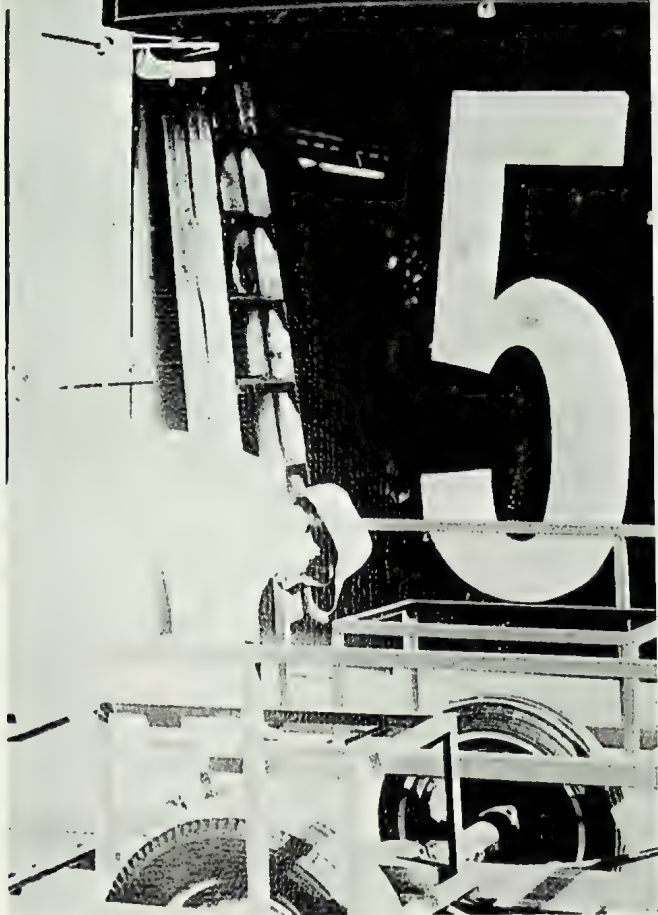

Sheet metal design and manufacture
take up most of the time of students in Industrial Metals.

WELDING

FOODS

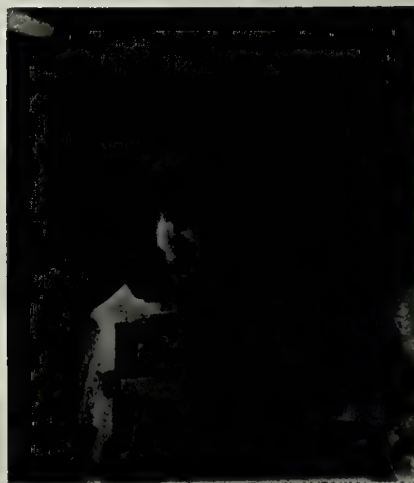

Food Services students provide an invaluable service to the school while learning the necessary food preparation skills for future jobs.

INSTITUTIONAL SERVICES

Institutional Services students receive excellent training in the care and usage of hospital apparatus plus child care and first aid skills. Home management skills are also taught in this area.

LIBRARY

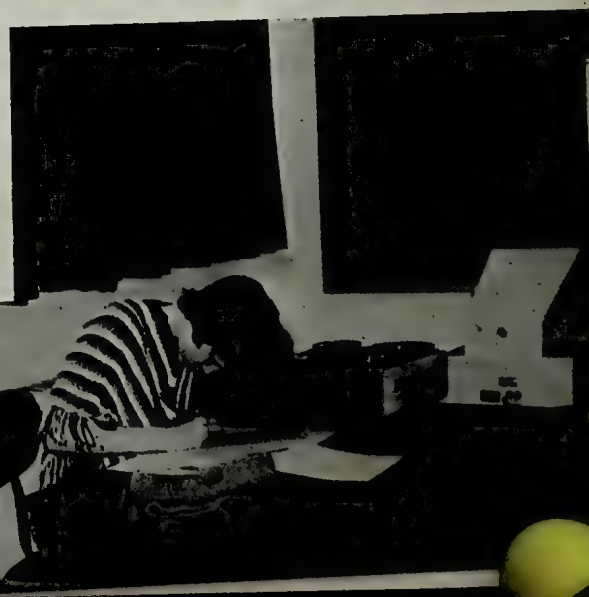

The Drama Club presented the one-act play Bench 18 for Christmas and improvised two scenes for the fashion show. Cathy Adsit (below extreme right) received the Drama Award this year for her contribution to the Drama Program.

frosh funnies
